EMERGING LEADERS PROGRAM

A Partnership Between Local Churches and the College of Biblical Studies

Christian young men may qualify for a very important, valuable scholarship to attend the College of Biblical Studies, an accredited college headquartered in Houston with locations in Indianapolis and Fort Wayne, Indiana, and an online campus. Because of the generosity of a gracious supporter, the Emerging Leaders Scholarship will fully fund tuition for an associate degree, with the possibility of a bachelor's degree if participants are successful.

The men selected must: (1) be age 17-30, (2) have graduated from high school (or GED), (3) have experienced father-absence in their lives, (4) attend church and be referred/affirmed by their pastor.

If this describes you, please scan the QR Code below to go to our special application, or visit cbshouston.edu/emergingleaders. Being accepted into the prestigious Emerging Leaders program means you can attend college tuition-free – and you can earn a degree that will change your future forever!

The good news is that you can begin right away. Courses begin throughout the year. We can walk you through this process, if needed, either in person or by phone. Once you apply, we will get back to you quickly to let you know whether you are accepted into the program.
